IMMIGRATION IN THE TRUMP ERA

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 2019
SOUTHWESTERN LAW SCHOOL

Join us for a day of timely topic discussion on cutting-edge issues in the field of immigration law. Two morning panels will focus on crimmigration issues. The first panel explores the Supreme Court's decision in Sessions v. Dimaya, which is particularly important to Southwestern as it originated in our Ninth Circuit Appellate Litigation Clinic. The second panel features papers exploring immigration federalism, including sanctuary cities, ICE enforcement, and local responses to federal policies. In the afternoon, we'll turn our attention to immigration policies affecting youth, including SIJS and DACA. The symposium will conclude with a panel that explores the emergence of "immigration law." Dean of the UC Davis School of Law, Kevin Johnson, will deliver the keynote address.

CLE

This conference offers 6 hours of CLE credit. Southwestern is a State Bar of California approved MCLE provider.

The Southwestern Law Review holds periodic symposia and distinguished lectures featuring prominent members of the legal community as they discuss topical legal issues. Articles written in coordination with the Symposium will be published in the Law Review. Copies of the issue will be sent to participants and will also be available for purchase by contacting the Law Review office at (213) 738-6744 or lawreview@swlaw.edu.

The Southwestern Law Review is a student-edited journal that publishes scholarly articles and commentary on the law contributed by prominent jurists, practitioners, law professors, and student staff-members of Law Review. Participation in the Law Review program provides students with the opportunity for concentrated study in specific areas of the law and enhances their skills in legal research, writing, and analysis.
